Woman Got Bail—

Pearl Vivian, the woman who is held as a witness in the case of "Bob" Davis, the man who struck Nels Peterson with an ax, has been released on $350 bail, her two sureties being Peter Dourel and the "Big Swede," P. A. Peterson.

Alpha Society—

The Alpha Society of the Memorial Lutheran Church will meet at the home of the pastor, 744 Franklin avenue, this evening. Mr. Gustaf A. Hemple will entertain. Members of the society and friends are cordially invited.

Died In Portland—

Mrs. Max Pohl died in Portland on Wednesday after an illness of several years. Death occurred at the home of her mother. Mr. Pohl has been in Portland since the early part of the week and announcement of the funeral will be made later.

Hageman May Get It—

All but one member of the Portland senatorial delegation have endorsed F. C. Hageman, of the firm of Foard & Hageman, for pilot commission, to fill the place made vacant by the resignation of R. D. Iman. The Port of Portland is said to have another candidate, also.

Can't Get Dredge—

A letter to the Chamber of Commerce from Major McIndoe of the engineering department states that the dredge Chinook will not be put to work this summer. The letter states that the dredge was laid off because her boilers were unsafe and no repairs have been made.

To Old Home Farm—

Cornelius Olsen, a respected citizen of this city intends to return to his old home farm back in Norway one week from today, and will settle there for good and all unless the "new country" just once again assails him and he yields to it and returns. To this end he has engaged through passage to Christiania, Norway.

Your New Suit

With the advent of warm weather a new suit will be necessary. It pays to dress well, for the man is often known by what he wears. I have many beautiful patterns on hand, some of really extraordinary fineness and beauty. A well-made tailor suit will outlast any two store suits—they're better satisfaction while you're wearing them.

Fingers Crushed—

Yesterday afternoon, while working about the planer at the Clatsop Mill, in this city, Clyde Kimball had the misfortune to have four fingers of his right hand badly crushed in the machinery. He was taken at once to a physician and his wounds were properly cared for. While the wound is extremely painful, it is not thought he will lose any of his digits, and that he will be back to work before many days have elapsed.

Astoria Day—

The exposition management at Seattle have set July 17 as Astoria day at the fair. Oregon City and Woodburn are also slated for the same day. Oregon's building, which is one of the most attractive and most centrally located, is the object of much interest. The Beaver state was first to complete its building, and the greater part of the exhibit that will be housed in it is already on the ground. Oregon also was the first state to select a site for a building.

Basketball—

There will be a preliminary game of basketball Saturday night at the Athletic Club, before the main contest between the Vancouver and Athletic Club teams takes the floor. The game between the Juniors of the club and the girls of the High School, which was to have been played tonight, will be put on as a preliminary, and all spectators may witness both of the contests for the one price of admission. The first game will commence at 8 o'clock, while the big contest went open up until an hour later. The Vancouver game should prove a very fine contest.

Steal Their Dogs—

While the common council recently voted to make necessary repairs on the city pound, nothing has been done and the place is in deplorably bad shape. Mister Johnson, the dog catcher, says it is impossible to keep dogs therein, and discussion of the matter brings out the fact that it has been the custom of some men when their dogs were taken up and incarcerated in the pound to go there at night and steal them away. Some have knocked boards off to get their dogs, and some have even filed off the locks. Last month the dog catcher killed 26 dogs, and strange as it may seem, no one has noticed their absence about town. He says he expects to kill about as many more in the next four weeks.

Rebekah Notice.

WILLIAM REHFELD DEAD AT SEASIDE HOME

HONORED VETERAN CITIZEN
EXPIRED AT SIX O'CLOCK
YESTERDAY EVENING.

Word was received in this city last evening announcing the death at Seaside at 6 o'clock of William Rayfield an honored and veteran citizen of the lower Columbia country, and a man known far and wide and genuinely respected wherever known. It was not possible to ascertain the cause of his death, but it is generally known that he was invalided to a certain extent for sometime past, and it is presumed that his ailment has reached a stage against which he could no longer prevail. Mr. Rayfield was well over the three-score-and-ten mark of life, and was a native of Germany.

He has always lived a rugged and hearty life, passing his youth as a whaler in the Arctic and later doing business as a steamer master and owner, having built and owned here, in earlier times, the steamers "Rough and Ready" the "O. K." and the "Dwyer." He acquired a fine farm property over in the Gray's River country and cultivated and improved it to a high point of perfection, selling it to Mr. Matison and others about one and a half years ago, and then moving to Seaside, where he built a snug little home, and with his wife settled down to a peaceful old age. They had no children and the devoted wife lives to mourn him; and it is said that Mrs. Rayfield's health is none the best.

For long years he has been a prominent Mason and was a member of Temple Lodge A. F. & A. M., No. 7, of this city, and of St. John's Chapter. And it is presumed these fraters will have conspicuous place in the final honors that will be paid him.

Everyone who speaks of this venerable citizen has but the kindest comment to make on his life and character. He was one of those men who do good by stealth never blazoning their deeds of generosity and friendliness and always ready to aid the man in need no matter whom he might be. He was a devoted friend, a staunch companion, and honorable to a fault in all his dealings; rough, wholesome, manly dignified and true, with a heart big enough to overlook foibles and forgive weaknesses, and frank and free in all his estimates, opinions and relations with men.

A story is told of him that has to do with the days of his youth, when he was cast away, with a companion, from the wreck of their ship, on the Galapagos Islands, and for six long months the pair subsisted on turtle-eggs as a sole diet and drank the dew of the night as they fell and gathered in the "monkey cups" in the trees; and in spite of this meagre living, worked his passage like a Trojan, when they were taken from the desert tropic isles, in a passing vessel. This goes to illustrate the wonderful strength and courageous nature of the man, and the dominant will that could carry him almost unscathed through a trial to which 99 men in a given 100 would have succumbed long before aid arrived.

Arrangements for the funeral have not yet been announced but they will be made known in these columns tomorrow morning, if possible.

The Morning Astorian joins with the host of friends of Mr. and Mrs. Rayfield, in this city, in extending to the stricken widow, the sympathy of the hour.

REV. W. S. SHORT IS TO LEAVE ASTORIA

HAS ACCEPTED A CALL TO CHURCH IN HAWAIIAN ISLANDS.

It will be with the sincerest regret that very many men and women of this community will learn that the Rev. William Seymour Short, rector of Grace Episcopal church, has tendered his resignation to the vestry of the church with the purpose in view of accepting a call in the Hawaiian Islands, in a church not far from Honolulu. To many this will come as a kind of shock, for in a way Mr. Short has been for years a part of the intimate lives of many men and women in Astoria.

Last night and yesterday Mr. Short was in Seaside, at the Mission there, and for that reason it was not possible to ask him personally about his plans. But it is known that his resignation is in, and that he asks to be relieved in June or July. The call comes from Bishop Rectorick of the Hawaiian Islands, and it is understood that the parish offered him is a good one. Many will be pleased to know, since Mr. Short is to leave here, that he is so fortunate as to go to a beautiful little island in the sea where the shines bright and the breath of the Pacific Ocean is always balmy and delightful.

It is also said that his whole family, consisting of Miss Carrie and the three boys, Edwin, Seabee and Fred, will go and also Miss Wheeler, their housekeeper. Miss Carrie also participates in the good fortune for she is offered the position of organist of the Cathedral in Honolulu, and this offer she has accepted.

For 22 years Mr. Short has been the rector of Grace church, and it is no exaggeration to say that he has baptized, confirmed or married half the American people of the city. Perhaps there has never been a minister here who gained and held so many warm friends outside of his own congregation and there are many who will say that few men, if any, have won more friends in this city than Mr. Short. He came to Astoria from Bethel, Connecticut, 22 years ago, then a young man of not more than 25 years, and since then he has gained a name in church circles all over the State of Oregon. As a man of fine sincerity, of the purest motives, and as a teacher of a simple straightforward Christianity, he is perhaps as well known in Portland as here in his home town, and there will be many who will feel his departure with a sense of personal loss. Perhaps there have been few harder parishes in the Pacific Northwest for a minister to work in than this has been in the past quarter of a century, and it is breathing no secret to state that not all men could or would have won their way through. This was Mr. Short's first regular parish and here he has given the best there was in him from the day he came until now. The work has been hard and oftentimes thankless. He has established missions at Seaside, Hammond, Skipanon and Warrenton, as well as acting as rector of Holy Innocents' chapel much of the time.

For a number of years Mr. Short has been a member of the standing committee of the diocese of Oregon, and a member of the boards of trustees of various bodies, including St. Helen's Hall, Bishop Scott Academy, and the Good Samaritan Hospital at Portland. He has also been a member of various committees and boards of the church in its work in the western states, and a delegate to the United States convention.

Another distinction is that in point of years of active service Mr. Short is the oldest rector of the Episcopal church in the State of Oregon.

It is understood that as soon as the boys are through with the present school term Mr. Short will be ready to leave.
